A Long-Term, Diversified Approach to Bond Investing

Hartford Total Return Bond Fund invests across multiple sectors and styles within the fixed-income market.

Actively Managed Fixed Income

Active portfolio managers can invest in compelling opportunities as interest rates and credit conditions change. The Fund invests mostly in high-quality bonds but may also invest in lower-quality securities in an effort to enhance returns.

Combines Complementary Sectors

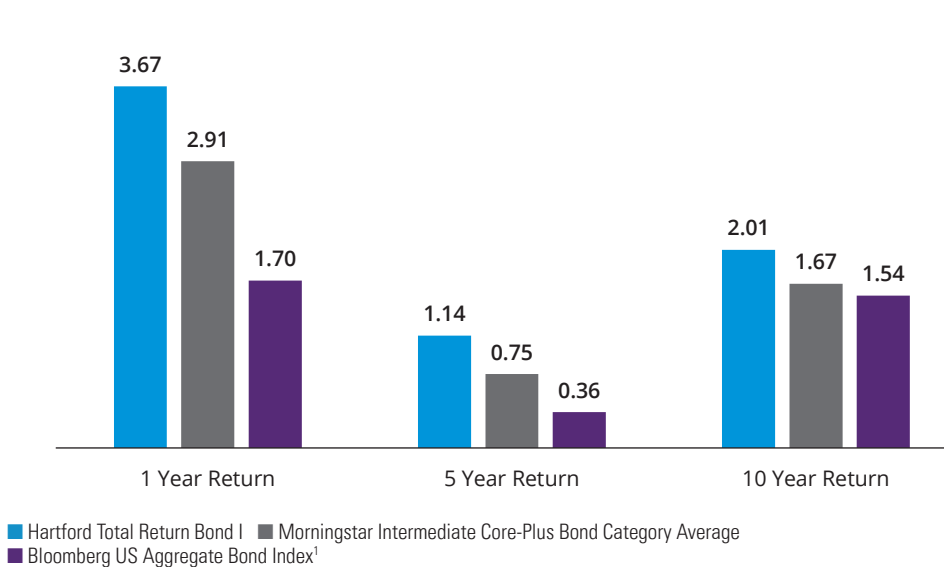

The investment team builds a portfolio with a diverse mix of fixed-income sectors that are expected to complement one another, with the aim of delivering consistent returns over a variety of market environments.

Expertise and Skill at a Reasonable Cost

Active investing doesn't have to break the bank. The Fund's I share class ranks in the lowest quartile for fees versus its peers in the Morningstar Intermediate Core-Plus Bond category.

Credit exposure is the credit ratings for the underlying securities of the Fund as provided by Standard and Poor's (S&P), Moody's Investors Service, or Fitch and typically range from AAA/Aaa (highest) to C/D (lowest). If S&P, Moody's, and Fitch assign different ratings, the median rating is used. If only two agencies assign ratings, the lower rating is used. Securities that are not rated by any of the three agencies are listed as "Not Rated." Ratings do not apply to the Fund itself or to Fund shares. Ratings may change.

Important Risks: Investing involves risk, including the possible loss of principal. Security prices fluctuate in value depending on general market and economic conditions and the prospects of individual companies. The Fund's strategy for allocating a portion of its assets to specialist portfolio managers may not work as intended. • Fixed income security risks include credit, liquidity, call, duration, event and interest-rate risk. As interest rates rise, bond prices generally fall. • The risks associated with mortgage-related and asset-backed securities as well as collateralized loan obligations (CLOs) include credit, interest-rate, prepayment, liquidity, default and extension risk. • The purchase of securities in the To-Be-Announced (TBA) market can result in higher portfolio turnover and related expenses as well as price and counterparty risk. • Obligations of U.S. Government agencies are supported by varying degrees of credit but are generally not backed by the full faith and credit of the U.S. Government. • Derivatives are generally more volatile and sensitive to changes in market or economic conditions than other securities; their risks include currency, leverage, liquidity, index, pricing, regulatory and counterparty risk. • Foreign investments may be more volatile and less liquid than U.S. investments and are subject to the risk of currency fluctuations and adverse political, economic and regulatory developments. These risks may be greater for investments in emerging markets. • Restricted securities may be more difficult to sell and price than other securities. • Investments in high-yield ("junk") bonds involve greater risk of price volatility, illiquidity, and default than higher-rated debt securities. • The Fund may have high portfolio turnover, which could increase its transaction costs and an investor's tax liability.
