Lipper Peer Group Short Municipal Debt

Market Overview

US fixed-income markets generated strong positive total returns during the third quarter, as measured by the Bloomberg US Aggregate Bond Index. US Treasury yields declined sharply as moderating inflation and a weaker labor market prompted the Federal Reserve to cut policy rates for the first time in four years. Spread sectors outperformed Treasuries as spreads compressed. The Bloomberg Municipal Bond 1-15 Year Blend (1-17) Index returned 2.61% during the quarter. The ratio of 10-year AAA general obligations (GOs) to 10-year Treasuries decreased marginally from 69.7 to 69.0%, remaining below the long-term historical average of 88% over the last 20 years.

Performance Summary

- The Hartford Municipal Short Duration Fund (I share) underperformed the Bloomberg Municipal Bond Short 1-5 Year Index over the quarter.
- Security selection in investment-grade revenue bonds was the primary driver of performance, particularly in transportation, industrial development, special tax, and housing sectors.
- Duration* and yield curve positioning were the largest detractors from relative returns. We were positioned underweight in front-end partials, which tightened over the period.
- An underweight exposure to general obligation bonds slightly detracted from performance.

Positioning & Outlook

- Fundamentals are broadly positive after generous direct and indirect Federal support and coming out of the pandemic.
- Many municipal sectors have natural outlets for inflationary pressures, but the more labor-constrained sectors will be more challenged.
- Expect municipals to behave defensively in a downturn given their high quality and strong balance sheets.
- Tax-exempt municipal valuations as proxied by the municipal/Treasury ratio are unattractive relative to history. However, municipal bond all-in yields look attractive relative to comparable quality corporates at intermediate and long maturities.
- Despite higher issuance this year, we expect demand to remain robust, particularly if rates begin to trend lower.

Important Risks: Investing involves risk, including the possible loss of principal. Security prices fluctuate in value depending on general market and economic conditions and the prospects of individual companies. • Municipal securities may be adversely impacted by state/local, political, economic, or market conditions. Investors may be subject to the federal alternative minimum tax as well as state and local income taxes. Capital gains, if any, are taxable. • Fixed income security risks include credit, liquidity, call, duration, and interest-rate risk. As interest rates rise, bond prices generally fall. • Investments in high-yield ("junk") bonds involve greater risk of price volatility, illiquidity, and default than higher-rated debt securities. • Financially material environmental, social and/or governance (ESG) characteristics are one of several factors that may be considered and as a result, the investment process may not work as intended.

Investors should carefully consider a fund's investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses. This and other important information is contained in a fund's full prospectus and summary prospectus, which can be obtained by visiting hartfordfunds.com. Please read it carefully before investing.
