

Our multifactor exchange-traded funds (ETFs) offer access to a new way of obtaining diversified equity exposure. We believe that the disciplined and intentional allocation of risk is the most influential contributor to long-term growth potential of capital.

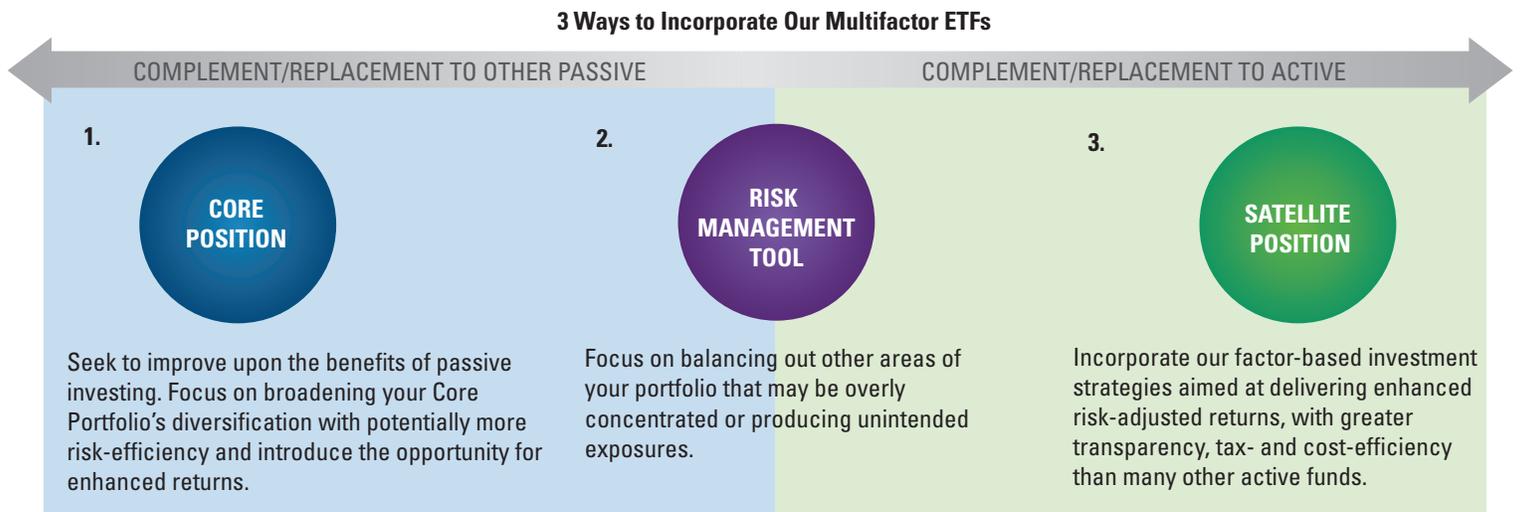

Investment Process

A systematic, rules-based index methodology designed to simultaneously address risks while seeking exposure to return-enhancing factors.

The Space Between

Since our passive multifactor ETFs are structured differently than market-cap weighted¹ strategies, they have the potential to outperform traditional benchmarks with the transparency, tax and cost efficiency of an ETF. Here are a few ways our multifactor ETFs can contribute to a diversified portfolio.

Satellite position comprises holdings that are used to diversify or enhance a core position in a portfolio.

The Index for each ETF seeks the following:		Targets up to 15% less volatility than investable universe	Seeks to reduce country concentration to improve portfolio diversification	Seeks to reduce currency concentration to improve portfolio diversification	Seeks to reduce company concentration to improve portfolio diversification	Seeks to enhance return potential by improving exposure to value, momentum, and higher-quality stocks
ROAM	Emerging Markets ETF Reduce concentration and broaden core exposure to more countries, currencies, and companies		✓	✓	✓	✓
RODM	Developed Markets (ex-US) ETF Reduce volatility and diversify exposure across international economies	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓
ROGS	Global Small Cap ETF Reduce risks common to small cap investing such as volatility and take advantage of valuation opportunities	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓
RORE	REIT ETF Diversify across property types and invest deeper into the US REIT universe, where there may be more opportunity for growth				✓	✓
ROUS	US Equity ETF Efficiently allocate capital deeper in the US large cap universe, beyond mega-caps, and toward companies with more favorable risk-reward potential				✓	✓

Investors should carefully consider a fund's investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses. This and other important information is contained in a fund's full prospectus and summary prospectus, which can be obtained by visiting hartfordfunds.com. Please read it carefully before investing.

Investing involves risk, including the possible loss of principal. • Foreign investments may be more volatile and less liquid than U.S. investments and are subject to the risk of currency fluctuations and adverse political and economic developments. These risks are generally greater for investments in emerging markets. • Small cap securities can have greater risk and volatility than large-cap securities. • A concentration in real estate securities, such as REITs, may subject a fund to risks associated with the direct ownership of real estate as well as the risks related to the way real estate companies are organized and operated. Real estate is sensitive to changes in interest rates and general and local economic conditions and developments. • A non-diversified fund may be more exposed to the risks associated with single issuers than a diversified fund. There is no assurance that the investment process will consistently lead to successful investing. • Diversification does not eliminate the risk of experiencing investment losses. Ordinary brokerage commissions apply.

¹ Market-cap weighted refers to a portfolio whose components are weighted according to the total market value of their outstanding shares.

² Indicative Optimized Portfolio Value (IOPV) is a real-time estimate of an ETF's fair value, based on the most recent prices of its underlying securities.

³ Expenses are the total annual fund operating expenses as shown in the most recent prospectus.
