

Exchange-traded funds (ETFs) designed by Hartford Funds—both strategic beta and actively managed—seek to provide investors with the tools to take greater control over the risks and opportunities in their portfolios.

Multifactor ETFs

With Hartford Funds Multifactor ETFs, we place risk and growth potential at the forefront of index design. Our goal: “better” risk¹ in pursuit of growth by allocating toward the risks we believe are more likely to generate returns.

² Expenses are the total annual fund operating expenses as shown in the most recent prospectus.

³ Within approximately the last year, the Fund has undergone changes which may have included the fund name, objective, principal investment strategy and/or benchmark. For more details, see the applicable Fund's prospectus

⁴ Risk objectives are measured against the underlying index's eligible universe of securities, weighted by market capitalization.

HARTFORD FUNDS

Our benchmark is the investor.®

At Hartford Funds, your investment satisfaction is our measure of success. That's why we use an approach we call human-centric investing that considers not only how the economy and stock market impact your investments, but also how societal influences, generational differences, and your stage of life shape you as an investor.

Instead of cookie-cutter recommendations and generic goals, we think you deserve personalized advice from a financial professional who understands your financial situation and can build a financial plan tailored to your needs.

Delivering strong performance is always our top priority. But the numbers on the page are only half the story. The true test is whether or not an investment is performing to your expectations.

Investors should carefully consider a fund's investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses. This and other important information is contained in the fund's prospectus and summary prospectus, which can be obtained by visiting hartfordfunds.com. Please read it carefully before investing.

Investing involves risk, including the possible loss of principal. • Foreign investments may be more volatile and less liquid than U.S. investments and are subject to the risk of currency fluctuations and adverse political and economic developments. These risks may be greater for investments in emerging markets. • Small cap securities can have greater risk and volatility than large-cap securities. • Diversification does not eliminate the risk of experiencing investment losses. • The Multifactor ETFs are not actively managed but rather attempt to track the performance of an index. The Multifactor ETF returns may diverge from that of the index.

Fixed income security risks include credit, liquidity, call, duration, and interest-rate risk. As interest rates rise, bond prices generally fall. • Investments in high-yield ("junk") bonds involve greater risk of price volatility, illiquidity, and default than higher-rated debt securities. • Municipal securities may be adversely impacted by state/local, political, economic, or market conditions; these risks may be magnified if the fund focuses its assets in municipal securities of issuers in a few select states. Investors may be subject to the federal Alternative Minimum Tax as well as state and local income taxes. Capital gains, if any, are taxable. • Obligations of U.S. Government agencies are supported by varying degrees of credit but are generally not backed by the full faith and credit of the U.S. Government. • The risks associated with mortgage related- and asset-backed securities as well as collateralized loan obligations (CLOs) include credit, interest-rate, prepayment, liquidity, credit and extension risks. • Derivatives are generally more volatile and sensitive to changes in market or economic conditions than other securities; their risks include currency, leverage, liquidity, index, pricing, and counterparty risk. The net asset value (NAV) of the fixed income ETF funds' shares may fluctuate due to changes in the market value of the funds' holdings. The share price of the fixed income ETFs may fluctuate due to changes in the relative supply of and demand for the shares on an exchange. The fixed income ETFs are actively managed and do not seek to replicate the performance of a specified index.

Fund Objectives: ROUS seeks to provide investment results that, before fees and expenses, correspond to the total return performance of an index that tracks the performance of exchange traded US equity securities. RODM seeks to provide investment results that, before fees and expenses, correspond to the total return performance of an index that tracks the performance of companies located in major developed markets of Europe, Canada and the Pacific Region. RODE seeks to provide investment results that, before fees and expenses, correspond to the total return performance of an index that tracks the performance of companies located in both developed and emerging markets. ROSC seeks to provide investment results that, before fees and expenses, correspond to the total return performance of an index that tracks the performance of small capitalization exchange traded equity securities. ROAM seeks to provide investment results that, before fees and expenses, correspond to the total return performance of an index based upon the emerging markets of the world. HTRB seeks a competitive total return, with income as a secondary objective. HCRB seeks to provide long-term total return. HMOP seeks to provide current income that is generally exempt from federal income taxes, and long-term total return. HSRT seeks to provide current income and long-term total return. HTAB seeks total return on an after-tax basis.
